Learning Outcomes

#	Learning Outcome
1	Course Learning Outcomes: Students will be able to compare socio-cultural transformations in different societies through theories of everyday life and modernization. Students will evaluate the manifestations of tourism, urbanization, leisure, and consumer culture in daily life within a global context. Students will interpret how modernization has reshaped everyday practices (music, cinema, media, architecture, social relations). Students will critically discuss the individual and societal impacts of modernity (secularization, alienation, identity formation). Students will examine the intersections between everyday life and the tourism industry (hospitality, gastronomy, recreation) from an interdisciplinary perspective.
