Aims of the Course	The aim of this course is to examine the concepts of employment and unemployment, the functioning of the labour market, and the economic, social, and structural causes of unemployment. The course covers the types and measurement of unemployment, labour force participation, the determinants of employment, labour supply and demand, mismatches in the labour market, and the employment opportunities of different social groups. Active and passive labour market policies, as well as measures aimed at reducing unemployment and increasing employment, are also evaluated. The course aims to enable students to analyse labour market problems, interpret employment and unemployment indicators, and develop policy recommendations to combat unemployment.
